Dear Customer

Dear Customer,

The current rare coin market can best be described as "mixed". Like an elevator in a large hotel, some cars or coin series are going up, others are going down, while others are sitting still waiting for someone to call. Activity and demand for most series is solid at current market levels. A recent surge of acceptance and popularity has surfaced for coins graded MS(64) or Proof(64). While not officially accepted by the ANA, all market leaders, most major dealers, many collectors and innovative grading services like PCGS and NCI have all begun using the grade of (64). I expect the ANA to follow suit sometime in 1986.

Demand for all coins in MS(64) is very strong with Gold, Silver Dollars and U.S. Commemoratives leading the charge. Though the physical difference between an MS(65) coin and an MS(64) coin can be subtle, the difference in price can be substantial. Look for large price increases for MS(64) and Proof(64) coins. Your Heritage Acount Executive can fill you in on all of the details including the large selection of quality MS(64) and Proof(64) coins currently in inventory.

MS(65) Gold coins seem to be taking a short pause, or breather, along with some issues of U.S. Commemoratives. I expect this pause in price advancement to be brief, and selective purchases in this area would be advised if one has a long term outlook.

Type coins are firm at current levels. After dropping about 30% in value (for MS(65) and Proof(65) coins) in late 1985 and early 1986, Type coins are firming up and I would expect them to start advancing in price within the next few months. I especially like Large Cents, Two Cent Pieces, Three Cent Nickels, Three Cent Silvers and Nickel coinage. This group represents the backbone of American numismatics.

Another segment of the coin market that seems ready to advance in price are Silver Dollar rolls. Because of the potential of quality B.U. Silver Dollar rolls, Heritage has begun to aggressively accumulate nice, original rolls of Silver Dollars. Contact your account representative for details.

MS(65) Silver Dollars have been dormant but firm over the last six months. I expect this trend to continue for at least the next few months. Selective purchase of MS-65 examples of rarer dates is advised. Currently priced at small premiums over the most common dates, some of the better date dollars offer tremendous value.

Your account representative here at Heritage is your link to the inner workings of the coin market. A HISTORY OF THE CARSON CITY MINT PART I

by Mark Van Winkle

America, in the last half of the Nineteenth Century, was still a young country in the midst of a century long period of empire building. The discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill in California in 1848 focused the attention of the world on the Western United States, especially California. A short eleven years passed until, in 1859, the largest mineral deposit in the continental U.S. was discovered on the edge of the Great American Desert, in western Nevada, only seventy-five miles from the gold producing districts of Grass Valley and Nevada City in eastern California. This mineral bonanza became known as the Comstock Lode and primarily produced silver, huge amounts, overwhelming amounts of silver. Virginia City grew up around this mountain of ore.

New Yorker, Abraham Curry, purchased a large tract of land in Eagle Valley for $500 and a few horses. He then followed the familiar tradition of frontier development by subdividing his tract of land into homesites and subsequently established the town of Carson City, named after his frontier idol, Kit Carson.

Carson City became the Nevada Territorial capital and remained the capital when Nevada was admitted to the Union in 1864. This vast mineral wealth naturally attracted miners, but along with the miners arrived camp followers: saloon owners, prostitutes, and gamblers. For many of these newly arrived citizens of Nevada life's pursuits could best be carried out beyond the pale of the law. But even in an environment that generally looked the other direction at criminality it soon became apparent that the worst offenders must be incarcerated. Abraham Curry sold a piece of his newly created township to the state for the construction of a prison for $80,000. Later, the ingenious Curry became warden of the prison.

Shortly after the discovery of the Comstock Lode in 1859, Abe Curry extensively lobbied Washington for the establishment of a Mint in the immediate area around the Mount Davidson vein. While Washington was generally sympathetic to the idea it was not seen as a pressing need with the country being torn apart at its seams by the Civil War. The mineral riches extracted during the War were badly needed by the Federal's cause but it was not until 1863 that the establishment of a Mint was reconsidered. Congress appropriated $150,000 and Abe Curry donated a city block for the Mint. Curry was named as the Mint's first Superintendent, thus solidifying the political base that both created and perpetuated the Carson City Mint. Curry then used his position at the prison to use convict labor to quarry the stone used to build the new Mint.

The Grand Masonic Lodge dedicated and laid the cornerstone for the new Mint September 18, 1866. The building was in the Pict style of architecture with an Ionic portico. Construction was completed November 23, 1868. The minting machinery was completely installed November 1, 1869 and coining commenced in January, 1870.

Prior to the passage of the enabling legislation that created a Mint in Carson City, Director of the Mint, James Pollock, had opposed the establishment of such a facility. In fact, Nevada and the West in general had no additional need for coinage that would necessitate the opening of another Mint. The political forces in favor of a Nevada Mint were so strong however, that Mint Director Pollock's report opposing the opening of another branch Mint went all but ignored and the bill passed both the House and Senate in March, 1863 with virtually no debate. It was reasoned that by establishing a Mint in close proximity to the Comstock Lode the chances would be greatly increased of keeping the precious metal in this country.* In reality, the only tangible result of establishing a Mint in Carson City was to help subsidize much of the local economy. At the time the Mint was authorized all but 5-6% of the silver mined in Nevada came from the Comstock Lode on Mount Davidson. It was reasoned that a Mint would save local miners up to 6% by not having to ship their ore to San Francisco. Another 2% should be saved by not having to ship the coins back to Nevada. However, the newly opened Mint created a public outrage when it established an assay fee of one quarter of one percent of the total value of bullion extracted. The Mint's Director received notice of the public's indignation in a fifteen page letter written by eight local businessmen on January 5, 1871. Thus began the political and economic woes of the second Western Mint.

^{*} Dur a different new than the one taken only eight years later by the pro-gold forces who sought an outlet for the masses of Comstock silver in the Dr. in the Trick Dollar For further information see Vol. VI, No. 1, 1986 Heritage Numerical article, "The Trade Dollar and the Politics".

After the establishment of the Carson City Mint the large producers of silver in the Virginia City area still found it more profitable to deal with the San Francisco Mint. This was due to the unusual requirement in Carson City that bullion depositors be required to receive back in payment silver coin of equal amount to that deposited. If this exceeded the need for coinage then the depositor had to ship his excess coin to the Mint in San Francisco.* By dealing directly with San Francisco the depositor could receive back a draft that could be used at once for supplies and general use. There was also a ready market for silver bars in San Francisco over and above the limited demand for coinage. Additionally, local mining companies found it more profitable to deal with San Francisco because of Carson City's reputation for "sweating" the ore deposited there. "Sweating" returns none of the value to the owner of the gold ore extracted from the raw silver ore. All silver ore contains some traces of gold.

The Carson City Mint was in actual operation for only twenty-one years, the shortest production period of any U.S. Mint. With silver taken exclusively from the Comstock Lode the Mint's grand total for production of all gold and silver coins was $42,818,335.30. The years 1874 to 1878 were peak years of production in the Mint for coins intended for general circulation. Dollars were not popular coins for commercial usage. Most were used as specie backing and remained in banks or Treasury vaults. In fact, most CC dollars produced between 1878 and 1885 were held in reserve in Washington. Several thousand CC dollars dated between 1878 and 1885 were released around Christmas, 1938 through the cash window of the Treasury Department. An additional 2,900,000 CC dollars were held in Treasury vaults and released gradually through public sales between 1972 and 1980.

Here we conclude Part I of our CC Mint history. Next issue we will conclude with Part II by examining the elections of 1888 and 1892 and the gross inefficiency and widespread corruption within the Mint.

The Market in Motion

by Reid Spencer

When our involvement in numismatics turns from passing interest to passionate pursuit, as it so often does, we embark on a never-ending quest for perfection in a woefully imperfect world.

The idle daydreams of the serious collector are filled with visions of the ultimate coin in ultimate condition – until reality intrudes. The frustrating chasm between the desire for a thing and the fulfillment of that desire is exacerbated by the limitations of what we can find and what we can afford.

And yet, the search continues.

If only we could borrow H.G. Wells' time machine and take a numismatic journey through the past. Perhaps we could stop in 1793 and spend a few productive years in Philadelphia. Perhaps 1873, a type collector's paradise. Imagine yourself standing beside a coin press in San Francisco and rescuing one pristine example of the legendary 1873-S Seated Liberty Dollar from the melting pot.

A Twentieth-Century type collector might use the opportunity to salt away a roll or two of 1921-S Half Dollars, not to mention the Mercury Dimes from Denver and Philadelphia.

As long as we have the use of Wells' fantastic machine, why not visit the future as well? A stock market investor might dream of receiving tomorrow's Wall Street Journal today; in a similar vein, we could steal a glance at a Grey sheet dated 1999.

But so much for whimsey. Until we succeed in breaching the natural laws governing the space/time continuum, we are confined to present tense, with all its limitations.

However, though the past is inviolate and immutable, the future certainly is within our scope. One doesn't need a time machine or a crystal ball to explore it – just a little perspicacity.

The rare coin market is ever changing, ever evolving. Those with sufficient insight to perceive developing trends and to act decisively on those perceptions inevitably are rewarded. Those who convince themselves that status quo forever will remain status quo inevitably are disappointed.

It does not take a wizard to analyze the current state of numismatics in America. An ever increasing influx of investment dollars is chasing an ever dwindling supply of available numismatic coins. The simple economics of supply and demand can produce a single result: rising prices.

As a corollary, the available supply of MS-65-and-better coins has all but disappeared. It can be said with certainty that there are far fewer Gem-quality coins on the market than there are collectors and investors who desire to own such coins.

The glaringly obvious result of this market condition already has begun to occur. Increasing emphasis has come to bear on MS-64-graded coins as the highest quality routinely available on the market. The burgeoning intensity which currently surrounds the acquisition of these MS-64 coins already has produced a dramatic price increase in certain areas – witness the recent 10-25 percent gains made across the board by common-date Morgan and Peace Dollars.

A major conceptual leap is not required to predict that similar upward price movement will invade the domains of MS-64 gold, commemoratives and type coins. Astute buyers are acquiring as many correctly graded MS-64 coins as they can find and afford. Those less astute will ignore this evident trend or will hesitate until too late and ultimately buy from the early birds taking profits in a rising market.

That's not to say that you should pass up a superb-quality coin when it becomes available, nor that you should surrender to the mundane in the enticing, frustrating search for your ultimate coin, whatever that may be.

Someday you may find it, and if you do, please let me know.

Finer Points Of Grading

Mint State (and Proof) "64" Grade Useful

by James L. Halperin

If you keep up with the coin market, I'm sure you're aware that the terms Mint State-64 and Proof-64 are finding their way into the grading "vocabulary" more and more frequently these days. Starting January 1, 1986, the Numismatic Certification Institute (NCI) began using it, whenever appropriate, on its certificates. "The Coin Dealer Newsletter" (CDN) began listing "BID" and "ASK" prices for MS-64 quality gold type coins in their first issue of 1986. MS-64 Silver Dollars had already been listed in the CDN since March, 1985.

I have somewhat mixed emotions about the grade "64", because I believe its use tends to make dealers grade coins even more conservatively. Grading standards have changed considerably over the past ten years, usually becoming more and more conservative over time. This often causes confusion for people who have purchased coins in the past, graded by the prevailing standards of that time. I would rather see standards remain constant.

Still, I have to admit that the "64" grade is very useful. There are an awful lot of coins that are best described with the term "64", especially since the greatest price jumps now always seem to come between "63" and "65". For example, the January 3, 1986 issue of "The Coin Dealer Newsletter" list common date Peace type Silver Dollars "BID" at $55 in MS-63 and $510 in MS-65.

Personally, I do not believe a Peace Dollar has to have a wholesale value of $510 in order to be a commercially acceptable MS-65. However, it does have to be worth a lot more than $55. So, what does a dealer grade a Peace Dollar for which he paid $70 or $100?

MS-64 is a convenient grade which covers a great many coins formerly in "never-never land." It's useful to a lot of dealers, and the public seems to want it. Heritage held out as long as possible, but we promised to be responsive to the marketplace, so we were forced to begin using it.

We are also employing the term MS-65PQ and Proof-65PQ. PQ stands for "Premium Quality". Top quality MS-65 coins command such high prices in today's market (the $510 Peace Dollar being a good example.) Therefore, we believe there should be some differential between a "typical" commercial MS-65 and the kind of coin for which dealers are willing to pay close to current CDN "BID" price. The latter coin may, in some cases, be classified as "65PQ".

It is important to remember through all of this scientific precision that every coin is different, and that grading is still partially subjective.

In the course of researching my book, "The N.C.I. Grading Guide", scheduled for release in April or May of this year (I hope you'll plan on investing $29.95 in a copy at that time) I had the opportunity to interview Ed Milas. Ed is one of the smartest and most well-liked people in the coin business, and also one of the most successful. His firm, Rare Coin Company of America (RARCOA), Chicago, Illinois, is a highly respected coin retailer and auctioneer. RARCOA has never used numerical grading in any of its auctions. Here are Ed's reasons for this:

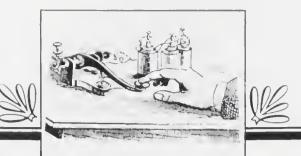

"Numerical grading is too exact. I would prefer to leave the exactness of the grade in the eye of the prospective buyer. The A.N.A. says MS-65 is the minimum grade necessary for "choice." Coin World says MS-63 is "choice." Therefore you can be more conservative when you use descriptive grading because "choice uncirculated" could mean anywhere from MS-63 to MS-65, depending on how you see the coin. Thus, there is more leniency involved with descriptive grading.

"I think the numerical grading has been a detriment to the business and hobby, primarily because it is not being used for its original intent. Mint State (MS-60 to MS-70) Large Cent grading originally referred to color (i.e. mint red), not overall grading. Now it implies an exactness that cannot always be agreed upon by two knowledgeable numismatists."

In spite of this, there is now talk of adding even more numerical grades (i.e., 61, 62, 66 and 68) to the present repertoire. Are these grades really needed? It seems to me that the price differentials between 60 and 63 really do not justify the addition of "61" and "62". 65PQ arguably is 66 already. And, by today's standards, 67's are so rare that we probably don't need the term "68" at all. If we need any new grade, it would probably fall somewhere between 64 and 65. That's where the greatest price differential lies today.

The fact remains that every coin is different (no two are absolutely identical); therefore, one coin is always either "better" or "worse" than the other coin in the eyes of a particular viewer. Since we obviously can't grade each coin to the 5th decimal place, i.e., 63.14159, the only solution for dealers is to grade and price each coin as they see it. Since grade and price are interdependent, the grading terms we need really depend upon the price ranges of the coins we need them to describe.

Thave no doubt that grading terminology will continue to evolve over the years, as the market prices for coins in the various grades continue to change in relation to each other. Since nobody can predict which grade ranges will enjoy the greatest increases in demand, it is impossible to know which grading terms will be in use five or ten years from now.

Market Update

As featured in Coin World by Steve Ivy

This week's column deals with the A.N.A. Mid-Winter Show, as well as the Boston and Las Vegas Shows.

This year's A.N.A. Mid-Winter Show was held at the Salt Palace in Salt Lake City. This show got off to a rocky start several months ago, when the City of Salt Lake tried to impose upon the bourse dealers a series of restrictive provisions applying to local secondhand dealers. The situation was so bad at one time that the A.N.A. strongly considered moving the entire convention elsewhere. After several weeks of able negotiating with the City Council, a suitable compromise was obtained. This, indeed, proved fortunate, as the show turned out to be quite good for most that attended.

The city itself was very enjoyable for most of the dealers, many of whom planned ski vacations around the show. Salt Lake City is not on the normal coin show circuit, so this was a first-time trip for many of the dealers, this writer included. When you consider that I've attended over 25 A.N.A. conventions, and well over 500 coin shows, it is a rare event when I travel to a major metropolitan center for the first time. The city is as beautiful and clean as you might imagine.

The show began with dealer set-up about 7 p.m. on Wednesday. Most of the dealers arrived early to look at the Heritage auction lots, so virtually everyone was there when the doors opened. Business was brisk the first evening, but there was definitely a "wait and see" attitude on the part of most dealers. This was the first show in several weeks for many of the dealers and, consequently, many were somewhat cautious initially. Thursday business was steady, with most dealers reporting sales at about what they had expected. Once again, as in the past several months, there didn't seem to be much fresh material on the market. Friday morning, business was virtually a repeat of Thursday's activity. Friday afternoon, however, saw the action pick up considerably. It appeared that many of the people who were waiting on the sidelines decided that now was as good a time as any to get back in the market. Saturday, being the last day of the show, is generally the slowest day, as people turn their attention toward getting home. This particular Saturday, however, was a pleasant exception. Wholesale business climbed to a peak, and almost everyone reported that Saturday was their best retail day of the entire show. The A.N.A. itself must be credited with much of this, as the crowds reported on Friday, and especially Saturday, were terrific. While the public attendees are usually not responsible for a high amount of sales volume, large crowds do tend to create an atmosphere that is very conducive to doing business. In all, the bourse activity was considered very good by most. With the show building toward a strong finish, almost everyone left Salt Lake City with a positive feeling about the market.

The Heritage auction was another indication of a strong market. With over 300 registered floor bidders, the sale realized in excess of $2.75 million, some 15% higher than presale estimates. Of particular interest to bidders was an outstanding collection of Bust Halves and Dollars.

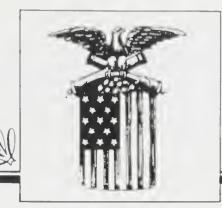

As with all A.N.A. events, this convention hosted a bevy of meetings. While these events were well covered by the numismatic press, I would like to comment on a couple of what I consider the most significant topics. First, is the letter issued by the A.N.A. Board discussing the changing interpretations of the grading standards, as published in the A.N.A. Grading Guide for United States Coins. While it is hardly at issue that grading, as practiced by the A.N.A.C.S. as well as the industry, has become more conservative in the past several years, it is encouraging to see the A.N.A. Board take such a positive stand on this issue. Many people doubted the A.N.A.'s resolve in this matter. My hat goes off to them!

The other subject I would like to report on was one of the primary topics of conversation at the Industry Council of Tangible Assets (I.C.T.A.) meeting. Michael Brown, the Assistant Director of the U.S. Mint, attended the meeting to seek the advice of the association on the marketing and distribution of the new U.S. Gold coin. According to Mr. Brown, the coin, a Fifty Dollar Gold Piece, will be first introduced on October 1, 1986. The Mint intends to spend between $10 and $20 million advertising on TV, as well as through printed ads. As with the government's Carson City Silver Dollar promotions of the mid '70's, this program should introduce millions of potential collectors and investors to the coin hobby. Our sister hobby, philatelics, has benefited greatly from the U.S. Postal Service's advertisements promoting stamp collecting. Hopefully, this will have the same results for the coin business.

The next show attended was Ed Aleo's Bay State Show, which is held three times a year at the 57 Park Plaza-Howard Johnson's in historical downtown Boston. While this event is small compared with many of its counterparts, it is almost always good. The quarters are somewhat cramped, but it is a well run show, with tables always at a premium. The activity was strong through Friday evening, with the pace slowing down quite a bit on Saturday. While many dealers reported having a good show, it was considered only average by most. As with most East Coast shows, the volume centered around Gold and Type, with little activity in

The next week saw dealers flying west again to the Las Vegas Show. Held at the Sahara Hotel, one of my most accurate benchmarks of the coin market is the blackjack table/bourse table ratio. That is to say, the number of dealers playing blackjack during bourse hours, divided by the number of dealers at their bourse tables. During a good market, the ratio runs between .25 and .50, and during a poor market, the ratio runs about 2 to 3. It would seem that coin dealers, as a whole, are not the best disciplined lot, and unless the bourse profits are substantial, the constant beckoning of the "green felt jungle" overwhelms their desire to buy and sell coins. The first day, the ratio was a promising sub-1; however, as the days progressed, the ratio approached its pre-boom high. Hopefully, this is not an ominous sign for the coin business.

While the dealers were on the bourse floor, Silver Dollars and Gold dominated the activity. There also appears to be a considerable pent-up demand for PC.G.S. coins, as the service is somewhat behind schedule in grading coins. At present, the supply is nowhere near the current demand. Many of the firms are backordered, and are currently very active in pursuing P.C.G.S. coins.

ONE DOLLAR GOLD

1849 MS (60/60) No L, Open Wreath. This is an unappreciated rarity because it has never been widely known. Only 1,000 pieces were struck on May 8, 1849 of both varieties. This coin seems to be an early die state due to its lack of certain more advanced die cracks. This variety is so rare that it was unknown to Breen when he published his Hewitt gold dollar book in 1964. For the person who says there are nogood deals left in U.S. gold, this coin is irrefutable proof that there are such deals still to be found. $1,250.00

1868 Proof (64/64) J-618, R.4. A three cent nickel pattern struck in nickel with a large date. Brilliant. $1,750.00 1869 Proof (65/65) J-765, R.8. Regular die trial piece struck in nickel. One of only two known. Immaculate. (See Color Photo) $4,950.00 1870 Proof (63/63) J-977, R.7. Standard Silver 50c pattern struck in copper with reeded edge. Oil slick iridescence that is so lovely on aged coppers. (See Color Photo). $1,950.00 1873 Proof (65/65) J-1293, R.5. A proposed Trade Dollar design with short handles to the plough. The R.5 designation in the Judd book is most likely incorrect, as there is no difference in rarity among the various metals used to strike this pattern. So, it possibly should be listed as R.7. Grading Standards

Heritage Rare Coin Galleries employs the standards listed below for the grading of uncirculated coins. While all standards are subject to interpretation and evolution, it is our belief that the experience and professionalism of our graders insures consistency and conservatism. We invite comparison, as well as inquiries concerning our grading standards. We fully appreciate the importance of this topic, and we remain committed to the education and knowledge of our customers:

- MS-60: A coin which shows no wear, and has never been in circulation. It may however, have significant handling marks, hairlines, dull luster, weak strike or unattractive toning. It will be new, but thats about it. In general, a below average uncirculated coin.
- MS-63: An MS-63 coin may be described as an average or slightly above average uncirculated piece. It will display some bagmarks, blemishes or light hairlines, but none which materially detract from its overall appearance. The luster will be typical for the issue, and any toning will be fairly neutral on visual impact. The strike may, or may not be full, but will not be flat or inordinately weak. A "typical" uncirculated coin, perhaps slightly better.
- MS-64: A coin which we describe as MS-64 will be a well struck and attractive coin, with fewer marks or surface blemishes than usually encountered. The luster will be good, though not exceptional and any toning will generally enhance the coin. Our MS-64's are "select" coins.
- MS-65: MS-65 coins are clearly superior specimens, with only a few light marks, or tiny blemishes on the surfaces. The strike will be virtually full, and the luster will be strong and unbroken. Toning, if any, will be attractive to an experienced eye, and lend a high visual impact to the coin. A "choice" piece.
- MS-65PQ: Premium Quality. A coin which in our opinion, falls at the top end of the range for MS-65's. All aspects of the coin's appearance, including surfaces, strike and luster will be nearly the finest obtainable. The coin, if toned will be very attractive with considerable eye appeal. An unequivicable "Gem".
- MS-67: An infrequently used grade which we apply to those rare "wonder coins" which possess incredible eye appeal along with virtual perfection in all other areas. The strike will be absolutely full, the luster vibrant and deep and the urface will appear almost perfect to the naked eye. Superb!

However, Heritage has been pleasing discriminating coin enthusiasts, collectors and dealers for many years by delivering the quality they expect based on the grading standards in force at the time.

We invite you to compare our coins to those ordered elsewhere. We know you'll be pleased with Heritage quality, as thousands of other coin buyers have been in the past.

Morgan Dollar Mint Set

The Morgan Silver Dollar was minted between 1878 and 1904 and again resumed in 1921 for another year with slight design modification. During this period the United States (Treasury) utilized five different mints, the main mint in Philadelphia and the branch mints in New Orleans, San Francisco, Carson City and Denver. This set contains a mint state dollar from each of the represented mints.

Due to slightly different procedures and equipment used, dollars from each of the mints display different characteristics and vary in appearance. The coins selected for these Mint Sets will be "common" dates that will display the highest quality in production standards generally available for that mintmark.

The popularity of the Morgan dollar is unsurpassed by any other numismatic coin and this representative set offers an interesting and affordable way of collecting this fascinating series.

MORGAN DOLLAR GRADING SET

If you're buying Morgan Silver Dollars, our grading set is a must and will help you build a better collection. With our grading set, you'll have on hand a set of coins which illustrates each grade so that you can compare the condition of all your future Morgan Dollar purchases.

Experienced rare coin dealers grade by comparing the condition of the coin they are buying to the mental images of thousands of coins they have seen in the past. Without the benefit of such experience, beginning and intermediate collectors often find that the presence of actual coins (for the purpose of comparison) is a priceless asset.

With this in mind, we have assembled the following strictly graded sets (all coins meet the standards set forth in Jim Halperin's grading book The NCI Grading Guide) all housed in a Custom Plastic holder.

Set No. 1 – Contains four Morgan Silver Dollars grading All-55, MS-60, MS-63 & MS-64 $425

Set No. 2 – Contains five Morgan Silver Dollars. The four coins specified in set no. 1 plus a strictly graded MS-65. $1150

Silver Dollar Rolls

All signs indicate that silver dollar rolls are poised for a major escalation in value. After a period of relative quiet lasting nearly a year, silver dollars in all grades are once again becoming the focus of rare coin market activity.

Appreciable quantities of MS65 Silver Dollars have all but disappeared from coin convention bourse floors. Consequently, dealers have turned their attention with renewed intensity to MS64-quality coins, as the recent, rapid acceleration in the price of these coins clearly indicates.

In relation to the current pricing structure as a whole, roll-quality Morgan and Peace Dollars now appear to be significantly underpriced, especially the New Orleans issues and the 1921-P Morgans. At Heritage, we expect a "Coattail Effect", as roll-quality dollars make significant moves to keep pace with the market-leading, higher-grade issues.

In offering the following attractive brilliant uncirculated dollar rolls, Heritage also offers you the opportunity to get in on the ground floor of what we feel to be a promising, profitable market.

Gold Sets

Set #1 $20 Gold Set

This set contains both of the popular double eagles, the $20 Liberty and $20 Saint Gaudens. The large size (almost one oz. of pure gold) along with the artistic beauty of both coins have made double eagles the most sought after of all U.S. gold coins.

MS-60 MS-63 MS-64 MS-65 $1,375 $2,500 $4,125 $8,750

Set #2

4 Piece Liberty Set

Due to unprecedented demand for small gold, these coms are becoming quite elusive in high quality mint state.

This set includes the $2½, $5, $10, and $20 Liberty Gold.

MS-60 MS-63 MS-64 MS-65 $2,750 $6250 $12,100 POR

Set #3

4 Piece Indian Set

An extremely attractive and scarce gold set. The $2½ and $5 Indian coins are the only U.S. coins featuring the incuse design. Both are becoming very difficult to find in mint state. The $10 Indian and $20 Saint Gaudens gold, both designed by Augustus Saint Gaudens, complete this beautiful set. Future availability of this set is uncertain.

MS-60 MS-63 MS-64 MS-65 $4,125 $7,525 $12,250 POR

Set #4

8 Piece Gold Set

This set combines the Liberty and Indian sets. The enormous demand for mint state U.S. gold has had a drastic effect on supplies of these coins in today's marketplace. As demand continues to grow, the supplies become nearly exhausted. This explains the dramatic recent price increases for U.S. gold. The pride of owning an 8 piece gold set increases as it becomes more and more difficult to complete. We recommend that you try to purchase this set while it is still affordable.

MS-60 MS-63 MS-64 MS-65 $6,525 $13,075 $23,125 POR

Blast From The Past

"What Sense is there in Collecting Coins?"*

The president of a National Bank, who also is a trustee of an historical society and an officer of an archeological association, asked me this question: "What sense is there in collecting coins?"

This question is by no means an uncommon one to be asked even by men who are classed as intelligent.

In reply to this querry (sic), I endeavored to convince my friend that coins are the most unerring and best preserved monuments of an ancient world and are historical records of supreme value, telling as they do of vanished cities long forgotten giving the portraits and names of rulers otherwise unknown, and standing as reflections of the time and country that issued them; that coins reveal the religious belief of the ancient people and record the changing religious views of all the nations of the world during the last 2,500 years; that ancient and modern coins illustrate the history of art from its earliest stages of development to the highest excellence it attained, thence to its gradual decline and almost total eclipse during the darkness and turmoil of the middle ages and its rise since the dawn of the rennaisance (sic), as well as to the various schools of art that have existed in every country on the face of the globe; and in short, that coins are of the highest value to the historian, the student of comparative religion, the artist, the poet, the architect, and the man of letters.

After parting from this man, and being not at all satisfied with the way I had answered his question, I repeated to myself the question, "What sense is there in collecting coins?"

After some consideration I came first to the conclusion, as a result of my reading of biographies, my acquaintance with men, and my knowledge of life, that in order for a man to fully enjoy his earhly existence he must have a hobby.

Wealth and leisure, the combination which the world considers to be the source of happiness, in reality, as we who have studied life carefully well know, brings but little joy, unless the powers of a man's mind, body and spirit are continually engaged in riding a hobby.

Not long ago, the president of one of our largest "trusts" was obliged to undergo a serious operation. Though the operation was successful, the strain so weakened the patient's heart that he was compelled to resign his office and give up active business. His attending physician gave him this advice: "You will never regain your strength or enjoy life until you choose a hobby and ride it hard. It will make no difference what hobby you adopt, but a hobby you must have if you are to find health and happiness."

This multi-millionare failed to take his physician's advice, and having no business to occupy his mind save the cutting of coupons quarterly, is today one of the most restless, discontented and unhappy of men.

A business or professional man, who has no special interest outside of his daily work is apt to find as the years pass and the silvery locks appear, that life becomes dull, gray and uninteresting.

A few years ago, a man just past middle life, who, having amassed a fortune and feeling no longer the pressing need of close application to business, said to me: "I would give $10,000 if I could get a hobby and ride it as enthusiastically as you ride yours, but I don't seem to be able to become interested in anything." It was but two years from that time when this man, who possessed wealth and a civic and social position of prominence, was found dead in bed one morning as a result of a self-administered drug. If I had been chosen to write his epitaph, it would have been these words: "Having no hobby to ride, he found life not worth living."

On the other hand; a man with a hobby is too busy to be unhappy and has no time for ennui or the blues. As soon as his day's work is done, with a leap and a bound, he jumps on to his hobby, and with cheer in his heart and enthusiasm stirring his blood, he enjoys a fore-taste of heavenly bliss as he rides to his castle in Spain.

What is ghosting?

Ghosting is a phenomenon whereby the obverse will show through on the reverse. This is different from die clashing. Ghosting shows a vague image of the opposite side, but die clashing shows a sharp impression. Ghosting has been attributed to poor workmanship. It is most commonly encountered on Pennies of George V (1911-1927) and in U.S. coinage on Kennedy halves and early Lincoln cents.

What is a piefort?

Sometimes spelled piedfort, this French term denotes a coin struck on an unusually thick planchet. It is either a die trial piece or a pattern depending upon whose definition you read. It obviously seems to be a specimen striking, not intended for circulation. One numismatic dictionary has this interesting note, "It is possible that they were intended originally as patterns for the coiners to copy from when making the actual coins; the thickness of the flan would serve to distinguish the pattern from the coins themselves."

What exactly are "suction marks"?

Exactly – we're not sure. It seems to mean different things to different authors. To some, it seems to be used synonymously for die clashing. Another, less believable definition, is offered by the ANA in Selections from the Numismatist, "A term describing the outline of a design when found on the opposite side of a coin than on which it was struck. This is said to be caused by the release of the suction of the dies when they part. The tremendous pressure causes part of the design to be drawn through the planchet."
